Application symbols for easy identification

To simplify the selection process and ensure our clients can easily find the most suitable products for their projects, Havwoods has introduced a clear and easy-to-understand symbol system:

Floors

This icon indicates that the product is ideal for flooring applications, tested for durability and wear underfoot.

Walls

This symbol identifies products suitable for use on vertical surfaces, ideal for creating dramatic accents or a continuous flow from the floor.

Ceilings

This icon represents products fit for use on ceilings. Whether used on the ceiling alone or in continuation, it can make a striking impact on the design.

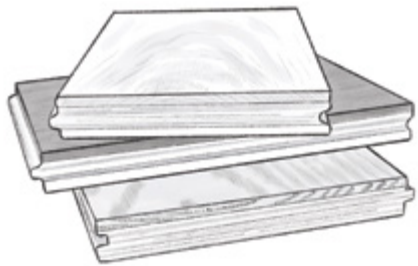

Cabinetry

This symbol helps to find timber specifically designed for use in cabinetry, offering the necessary specifications to handle the unique demands of this type of construction.

Some of our product ranges display more than one symbol, showcasing their adaptability for multiple applications. Look for these symbols throughout the Wood Book to understand the full versatility of our offerings.

From Milan to Mount Buller, reflecting on our 2024 Timber Tones

As we look back on the year, the 2024 Timber Tones have truly encapsulated the essence of contemporary design, complimenting the trends that took center stage at key design expos around the world, including Salone Del Mobile (Milan Design Week). This year's Milan Design Week showcased a blend of maximalist aesthetics, earthy tones such as burgandy and oranges, and tactile materials, all of which are perfectly suited to our Timber Tones.

The subtle elegance of the "Salisbury", the warmth and nod to nostalgic design via "Cedro" and the deep richness of "Salvo" have been widely embraced. These tones have resonated with the shift towards using more colour, natural materials, sustainability and variety.

The reception from our design and build community has been overwhelmingly positive. These timber tones have found their way into numerous exquisite projects, from luxurious residences in Mount Buller and Coogee, to an innovative nightclub and a charming boutique hotel. Each project has showcased the versatility and timeless beauty of these tones, confirming their status as a staple in modern interior design. We look forward to seeing how these tones continue to inspire and transform spaces across Australia.

2025 Timber Tones of the Year announced soon

Stay tuned for our highly anticipated 2025 Timber Tones of the Year! Building on the success and inspiration of 2024, we are excited to unveil the new tones that will define style and innovation in the world of timber. Innovative Design for Macquarie University

EP 144 Maple

Hassell were tasked with creating a new transparent, inclusive and engaging home for Macquarie University Law School. The Michael Kirby Building represents a landmark project in the heart of the campus and reinforces the Law School's connection and reputation within the university.

A standout feature of the project is the transformation of a previously under-utilised external courtyard into a naturally ventilated, top-lit atrium. This newly designed space fosters a sense of openness and interconnectivity, promoting well-being and facilitating various indoor and outdoor gatherings that encourage interaction and the exchange of ideas.

Havwoods Maple flooring plays a crucial role in creating a cohesive and inviting environment that supports these activities. The resulting space is a testament to how thoughtful design and quality materials can come together to create an inspiring educational environment.

Clovelly's Vault House

HW6206 Ryde

Nestled within the coastal charm of Clovelly in Sydney, lies Vault House, a light and bright home thoughtfully designed by Angus Stevens Architects.

Crafted to accommodate the evolving needs of a young family, this Californian Bungalow underwent strategic alterations and additions, transforming it into a harmonious oasis that seamlessly connects with the surrounding landscape. The architects' deliberate approach ensures that Vault House is not merely a dwelling but a canvas for familial growth.

One of the standout features is the exquisite Venetian plaster vaulted ceiling, a triumphant focal point within the home. The vaulted ceiling bathes the interiors in a mesmerising play of light, creating a light, bright and calming atmosphere throughout the day.

Havwoods Ryde engineered timber flooring was chosen for the dimensional stability throughout the year and the richness that the light oak provides to the coastal aesthetic of the home. The tones and character help to establish a profound connection to place and relationship between indoors and outside.

Clovelly's Vault House exemplifies the fusion of architectural prowess and familial foresight, transforming a residence into a haven that evolves with the rhythm of family life.

Explore the widths of V Collection with our range of wide boards.

When used in smaller spaces, a wider plank can make a space appear larger through the reduction in timber joins, creating a smoother and calmer effect.

Using wide planks means there are less visible joins from plank to plank, than that which you would see with installing narrower planks.

The effect can subconsciously create a less cluttered visual, allowing the feeling of space to permeate.

Used in large spaces, wide planks accentuate the space, delivering an atmosphere of grandeur, often seen in contemporary design. This can be especially beneficial for creating impactful entryways, both in residential and commercial applications.

Speakeasy charm at Bar Urbane

HW6246 Bellmore Herringbone

Imagine stepping into a hidden bar from the 1920s, a place where whispers fill the air and jazz melodies drift softly through dimly lit corners. This was the enchanting vision for Bar Urbane, a sophisticated sanctuary in Launceston. Drawing inspiration from the secret speakeasies of the Prohibition Era in America, Prime Design, led by Tahleah Hoyle, set out to create an exclusive haven that exudes the same mysterious charm and elegant allure.

The aim was to evoke feelings of elegance, quiet, and exclusivity. Dimmed lighting, acoustic panelling, and soft furnishings contribute to a serene ambiance, while bold colours engage the senses, making patrons feel like they are indulging in a truly extraordinary experience. The colour scheme, featuring green, orange, and yellow tones of brass, paired with monochromatic tones in tiles, joinery, and bar furniture, allows the bold hues to shine. The layering of luxe elements epitomizes the project's ethos that "too much" was never a consideration.

The choice of Bellmore Herringbone from the Luxe Collection was pivotal in achieving the desired luxurious and elegant atmosphere. The stable product, with its beautiful finish and depth of colour, perfectly aligned with the client's brief. The herringbone pattern added a sophisticated touch, enhancing the overall aesthetic.

The flooring had to meet specific technical and design requirements due to the bar's classification as a class 6 building. Compliance with NCC requirements for slip rating and radiant flux was essential, an additional floor sealant was selected to provide further protection in the commercial environment.

Bar Urbane is the epitome of sophisticated design, where every element, from the moody tones to the luxe details, creates an atmosphere of unparalleled elegance and exclusivity.
